Let's Talk!!!
We will have a panel of users discuss their personal experiences of moving to OS/400 Version 3 release 1. Each panel member will briefly tell us about their configuration and share some of their experiences (successful or not) during preparation, implementation, and post implementation periods of the new operating system. The panel will then field questions you may have about the migration process or any of the new features of V3R1. this is your chance to talk to those who have already been through the process. We encourage you to bring your excitement/concerns and share them with others who may be in the same boat.

Q&A

Q: I've been told I need to perform a RCLSTG (reclaim storage) command. Why do I need it.

A: RCLSTG cleans up certain portions of your DASD. It does many other things, too, such as moving to library QRCL any objects that have been damaged or destroyed by an abnormal system termination or objects that no longer belong to any library. In addition, RCLSTG assigns to IBM supplied user profile QDFTOWN any objects whose owner can't be found.
